

Terms and Conditions

By accessing or using The Sensory Play Clinic website, purchasing a product, or engaging in any service, you agree to these Terms and Conditions. Products and resources are for educational and wellness purposes only and are not intended as a substitute for professional medical advice. All content, designs, and materials remain the intellectual property of The Sensory Play Clinic. We reserve the right to update product information, service details, and pricing at any time. Clients will be notified of significant policy changes via email or website notice.